Britain Expels Soviet Members

Note Severing Relations Between Soviet and British Delivered—Mission in Moscow Will Be Recalled.

London, May 27 (P).—A note severing relations between the Soviet and British governments was delivered today at Chesham House, the Soviet legation. The note requests the official Soviet representatives to leave, and specifies who of the others will be allowed to remain to wind up the affairs of Arcos, Ltd., the Russian trading organization.

The British diplomatic mission in Moscow will be recalled immediately. It is not yet decided who will look after the British interests in Moscow. The note, which makes about 700 words, will be given out for publication late tonight, it was stated.

It is understood to allow from a week to ten days for the Soviet representatives to leave England.

The note was sent to Chesham House by special messenger and delivered personally to M. Rosenzweig, the Soviet chargé d'affaires.

Simultaneously with its delivery, several trunks belonging to employees of Chesham House were loaded into taxicabs and started for the railroad station.

Chesham House announced this afternoon that the German Embassy had agreed to look after the Soviet's interests here as part of a system of winding up diplomatic affairs which will require some months.

Part of the Chesham House staff will be divided between Paris and Berlin, the others returning to Moscow. Most of them, including Charge Rosenzweig and other officials, are planning to leave in less than a week.

May Buy One Case at a Time

Toronto, May 27 (P).—One case of beer or liquor may be purchased at a time by tourists in Ontario under the new provincial liquor control act, D. B. Hanna, chairman of the government board administering the law, announced today. Some of the government stores are expected to be opened Wednesday and others on June 15.

Residents of the province may buy two cases at one time, Mr. Hanna said, although he did not indicate how often the maximum purchase might be made.

Certificates necessary for the purchase of liquor will be issued only to residents and recognized tourists and travelers, Mr. Hanna asserted. Holiday-bound excursionists from the United States will not be issued permits, he said.

Mr. Hanna distinguished between "people who come across the line for a blow out" and "bonafide travelers and tourists" in his warning that "American railroads who are advertising special trains across the Ontario border" on the day the liquor stores open "will be foredoomed to disappointment."

"The stores will be opened in a dignified way and the business will be conducted with dignity," he declared.

Queen Visits Mme. Nungesser

Paris, May 27 (P).—While Paris was observing itself hoarse in honor of Captain Lindbergh, Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians was trying to bring a little comfort to the sorrowing heart of Captain Nungesser's mother.

Leaving her lady-in-waiting, Countess Van Donselaere below in her automobile, the queen alone climbed several flights of stairs to the top floor flat of Mme. Nungesser in Voltaire Temple yesterday and remained with her for about an hour.

Mme. Nungesser was deeply touched by the kind thought of another mother and was visibly cheered when the queen with gentle grace urged her not to relinquish hope for her aviator son.

Lindbergh Flies In French Plane

During Flight Over Paris American Airman Pays Homage to France's Unknown Soldier—Seemed Like a Boy at Play.

Paris, May 27 (P).—Captain Lindbergh flew over Paris in a French plane for more than an hour this morning. During the flight he paid homage to France's Unknown Soldier, flying over the tomb in the Arc De Triomphe in graceful curves and descending at one time to within 150 feet of the hallowed spot.

When he returned to the airport at Le Bourget, Captain Lindbergh went through a series of aerial acrobatics that delighted military aviators gathered to watch him. One of the stunts was a sham aerial battle with a plane piloted by Sergeant De Tréval, who had followed him on his flight.

The flight was carried out without the knowledge of the general public and few who saw the plane over Paris guessed that the hero was once more in his favorite element.

The flier was the guest of Colonel Poly-Marchetti, commandant of the 34th Regiment of Aviation, who furnished him with one of the newest models of a 350-horsepower military scout plane. It was the first time Lindbergh had flown in this type of plane, yet he had a perfect ascent and landing.

After landing he went to his own "bus" to make a careful inspection and give some suggestions to the mechanics getting it in shape for tomorrow's air trip to Brussels.

Captain Lindbergh went to Le Bourget, in an Embassy car accompanied only by Brig.-General W. W. Harts, military attaché. He wore a gray shirt and aviator's breeches. It was the first time he had been aloft since he arrived from New York and he seemed like a boy at play—happy both over the pleasure of flying and at getting a little respite from formalities and attention by crowds.

Lindbergh was up shortly after daylight and an Embassy car took him to Le Bourget, where French military fliers were awaiting him.

"During his flight he violated the city ordinances and military regulations by flying low, but he had a military escort in another monoplane and at any rate no one had the least objection to his doing as he chose."

On Shopping Trip.
After breakfast he went shopping. He would have hardly ventured to visit the stores if the people generally knew that he was going out, but he had no "official" program this morning, and his flight and shopping trip were interlarded.

He looked around for presents for his mother and friends back home, but exactly what he did about "something from Paris" that he must take home he did not say.

One of the things he had to do was to have his picture taken as a sort of official photograph. He is also being sculptured. The sculptor Goursat has modeled a miniature bust of him with the base extended in the form of an ash tray, although Lindbergh does not smoke.

Lindbergh returned to the Embassy only an hour before he was due to leave for a luncheon given by M. Painleve at the ministry of war. He seemed to have enjoyed his morning off and to have recovered from the fatigue of yesterday's hard round of ceremonies.

The Association of War Mutilated known as the "Broken Mugs" is organizing benefits to raise a fund for the families of Captains Nungesser and Col. missing French transatlantic aviators, and Ambassador Horlick, who is a member of the honorary committee in Paris, had promised that Captain Lindbergh will appear at a gala performance to be given June 10.

Lindbergh and the Ambassador left the Embassy for the Painleve luncheon today a little late. It was the first time they had been tardy during the week's strenuous ceremonies.

Gas Fire May Take More Lives

Raging Natural Gas Furnace Threatens to Increase Its Toll of Four Known Dead—Explosive Experts Work to Extinguish Blaze.

Sanford, Tex., May 27 (P).—A raging natural gas furnace, created by the ignition of the huge McMillan No. 1 gasser and the main and virtually only street here, today threatened to increase its toll of four known dead as it defied efforts of Panhandle fire fighters.

Four of the crew engaged in taking casing from the well were killed when flames roared skyward yesterday morning. Two others were believed to have been cremated in the derrick while seven were hurled to the ground and severely injured.

Hope of extinguishing the blaze before it spread to the tents and frame buildings nearby, rested with explosive experts, headed by "Tex" Thornton, daring torpedo company employee. Attempts to "snuff out" the 200 foot pillar of fire with steam and nitro-glycerin were under way today.

Using a fire proof suit, Thornton crawled over the trembling earth to the crater forming about the well casing to plan the placing of explosive. He reported the pressure of more than a million cubic feet a day was shaking the casing and apparently enough gas was escaping to outside the pipe to eat away the ground. He was unable to locate the bodies of two men unaccounted for but said they probably were caught in the ruins of the wooden derrick.

Persons in the vicinity of the well said the flame suddenly shot to a great height and then settled to a comparatively steady torch that often reached a height of 200 feet. A terrific explosion preceded the fire. It was heard for miles and shook buildings throughout the village.

As the well is located on the only well-defined street in town, volunteers immediately started to move nearby buildings while women and children were sent to places of safety. Steel cables and large hemp ropes used in drilling wells were placed around frame structures and tractors and horses pulled them out to the plains. The Sanford News Building was the first to be skidded from the fire zone.

Levees Along East Bank Safe

Water Diverted Through the Atchafalaya as Well as Crevasse Assures Safety of Levees Along East Bank—Town of Morganses Cut Off.

New Orleans, May 27 (P).—Danger to the levees on the east bank of the Mississippi below Old river probably has passed, Major-General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, said today. The vast amount of water being diverted from the Mississippi through the Atchafalaya, as well as the crevasse farther up the river, was believed to have assured the safety of the levees along the east bank. General Jadwin is in the flood area supervising the work of the various flood control bodies.

Further rise of the flood waters from the town of Morganses last night, McCrea is approximately 130 miles northwest of New Orleans on the opposite side of the Mississippi. Trains over the Texas and Pacific have been discontinued past new roads, the parish seat of Pointe Coupee Parish.

At Lafayette relief authorities announced the drowning of two negroes, the first authentic report of deaths due to the flood in that section. Water was reported as spreading rapidly in St. Martinville and Breaux Bridge although a few residents remained.

Dargan Gets $300 Verdict

Sued Troy Man for Damages to His Car, Resulting from Auto Accident at Saugerties—Another Auto Case Taken Up.

An automobile negligence action brought by John Dargan against Leon F. Dedicato of Troy was next taken up in the Supreme court Thursday afternoon. Dargan who operates a taxi business at Saugerties, seeks to recover damages to his Buick car which he contended was damaged through the negligence of the driver of defendant's Autocar 6 ton truck near the northern boundary of the village of Saugerties.

Plaintiff contended that as his driver, Edward Ferguson, was driving south on the highway on July 3, 1926, from Malden to Saugerties, the truck of the defendant struck the front wheel of the Buick, causing it to swerve from the highway and strike a tree with sufficient force to do much damage. He claims that the truck was not to the right of the road and that his car was to the extreme right.

Defendant's truck, driven by George Allen of Troy, was proceeding north from Marlborough to Troy. It was about midnight. Near the bridge at the Cantine farm Allen noticed the touring car coming south. He testified the car was in the center of the road and that he pulled his truck to the right and placed the right wheels off the concrete on the dirt. The car continued in the center of the road and he did not know there had been a contact until his helper saw the Buick car in the tree. He examined his truck and found that the Buick had struck the rear wheel of the truck as it was turned, according to the driver, to the left sharp before it had cleared the truck. The contact was so slight that he did not notice the collision.

The charge to the jury by Judge Rosch was made at the opening of court at 10 o'clock this morning and the jury retired to return with a verdict shortly before noon of $300 for plaintiff. Lloyd R. LeFever appeared for plaintiff and John W. Eckart for defendant.

Another Auto Case.
Another automobile negligence action was taken up for trial. Charles Carlson of Samsonville sued to recover for damages to his Jewett car which he claims were due to the negligence of Angelo Florino of this city who operated a Durant car.

The accident happened on the evening of June 27 last, near School No. 6, town of Hurley, on the Ashcroft boulevard. Plaintiff was proceeding up the road and Angelo was proceeding toward Kingston. Plaintiff claims the defendant's car came around a turn as a fast clip and swerved to the left, striking his car which was off on the shoulder of the road and against the bank.

A. J. Cook appears for plaintiff and John W. Eckart for defendant.

Mussolini Tells Of Future Plans

Convinced He Will Have to Remain at Head of Government For Ten or Fifteen Years—Will Revolutionize State Machine.

Rome, May 27 (P).—Benito Mussolini, who five years ago began his task, under the Fascist banner, of creating a new Italy, is convinced that he will have to remain at the head of the government for another ten or fifteen years. He is even ready to retain the premiership for a longer period if necessary to achieve the ideal Fascist state "not because I am lustful for power but because it is my precise duty."

Vociferous applause greeted these words in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday and when he was able to make himself heard again, he added: "My successor is not born yet."

"Today, May 26," the premier exclaimed with a dramatic gesture, "we bury solemnly all the lies of universal democratic suffrage."

He explained that the state machine would be revolutionized, beginning at the end of this year, when the chamber would be transformed into an organ of the corporative state, the members being elected by the national corporations created by the charter of labor. Instead of by the people directly.

Many times during his premiership, Mussolini has aroused the chamber to outbursts of enthusiasm by his oratory, but this speech ranks among his best. At times his voice quivered with emotion, then it rose to its full vibrant power. His features seemed to come at the proper time and his expressive face changed repeatedly as he told of Fascist achievements, or the tasks that lay ahead, or pleaded with his hearers to spare no effort to reach the Fascist goal.

His daughter, Edda, and his brother, Arnaldo, heard the speech from the diplomatic balcony.

Towing Malolo To New York

New York, May 27 (P).—The new giant mason liner Malolo, hopelessly crippled in a collision with a freighter off Nantucket lightship on the first day of her trial cruise, today was being towed to New York by wrecking tugs.

The $7,000,000 queen of the Merchant Marine, with approximately 150 persons aboard, labored on its 150-mile journey to port while coast guard destroyers steamed about the neighborhood ready to transfer passengers and crew should need arise.

A gaping hole was torn in the side of the liner and its boiler rooms were flooded in a collision with the Norwegian freighter Jacob Christensen in a fog late Wednesday. Fifteen miles off Nantucket lightship.

The size of the Malolo, a 22,000 ton vessel, made towing difficult. The liner is expected to reach New York tomorrow or Sunday.

Two wrecking tugs of the Merritt Chapman and Scott Corporation of New York had the vessel in tow. Radio advice received from the ship reported she was moving at the rate of about five knots an hour. The sea was smooth and the fog clearing. The condition of the vessel was reported unchanged. There was no additional prospect of danger.

The greater part of the money will be for the relief of ex-soldiers in government hospitals.

It was at first planned that the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars conduct the sale of poppies on the same date but the Legion sale is not scheduled to open officially until Saturday.

Boy Drowns as Canoe Goes Over Eddyville Falls

Three Walters Employed at Greenkill Park Went Canoeing in Roundout Creek With Fatal Result—Two Return Safely but Other Went Over Falls in Canoe.

Victor Zurek, 21 years old, of New York city, a waiter employed at Greenkill Park, was drowned about 9 o'clock this morning when the canoe he was in, on the Roundout creek, went over the Eddyville falls. Two other young men who were with him swam to shore and safety. Sheriff Arthur Rice was notified of the tragedy and dispatched several State Troopers and deputy sheriffs to the scene to assist in locating the body of the missing youth.

Inquiry over the telephone to the hotel at Greenkill Park brought out the information that they did not know the names of the young men as they only reported for work Thursday night and had arisen early this morning to go canoeing in Roundout creek. It was stated, however, that "one of the trio" had been employed at the hotel last summer and that he had returned safely. Asked as to what occurred, it was said that when the canoe upset two of the young men swam to one shore and the third to the other shore, and that at the hotel it was believed that he was not drowned but simply lost in the woods on the St. Remy side of the Roundout creek.

The story as reported to the sheriff's office was to the effect that the man who was drowned remained in the canoe and was carried over the falls. The canoe was later found below the falls by some fishermen.

REAL ESTATE BOARD WILL HELP PAGEANT

As the work of the board progresses the opportunity for civic service and constructive development through cooperation becomes more apparent at each meeting.

The forthcoming Ulster County Pageant was discussed and the members were unanimous in their desire to contribute to the success of the celebration.

Has Speedy Craft
to Cross the Ocean

Rome.—An attempt to cross
from Europe to the United States in 50 hours by means of an especially constructed semi-submersible boat, is to be made
late this year by Ettore Bugatti,
owner of an automobile factory
in Alsace, France.

Bugatti, who is of Italian origin, declared, after being received by Premier Mussolini that plans for his invention are virtually complete.

The craft, about 22 feet long,
with a beam of 10 feet, will be enclosed like a submarine, but will travel only half submerged.

In the center will be a cabin and a tube, about a foot and a half wide, for ventilation.

There will be two forward and two aft motors, each with an entirely independent system of control.

The boat is expected to develop 2,400 horsepower and carry eight persons for a cruising radius of 60 hours at a top speed of 82 miles an hour. Bugatti said he intended to build it in an automobile factory here.

The Cook

Suzanne Lenglen, departing on the France, said to a reporter:

"I like everything American except the cooking."

"I know an American girl who tried her hand one day at Scotch short-bread. She was so well pleased with her success that she spread a piece of shortbread with apple butter and gave it to a boy who was rolling the tennis court."

"The boy returned in a few minutes
and said:
"Much obliged for the apple butter, ma'am. Here's yer piece o' board
back!"

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

BOYS' BASEBALL IS BACKED BY LEGION

American Legion posts throughout the United States expect the junior baseball season this year to be the best of any yet sponsored by the organization, with less expense than last year, because the series of elimination games will be confined to state lines and no regional or national contests will be held, as was done last year.

In spite of the handicaps last year,
boys' baseball turned out to be one of the most successful activities the Legion undertook. More than 20,000
boys were brought temporarily under Legion influence to be coached in good sportsmanship.

The rules for junior baseball have been prepared under the direction of the Legion's Americanism division, as last year. Any boy is eligible who will not attain his seventeenth birthday
before January 1, 1928. Every player is required to fill out and sign a certificate of eligibility. No team is eligible for any championship series unless it has been definitely enrolled under the Legion direction before July 15.

In some states each post that enters
a team pays a registration fee of not more than $5. This enables the state department to finance the state championship finals, which involve railroad fare and hotel expenses for several teams. Last year posts received great assistance from their local business
men's clubs and other organizations
interested in boys or community welfare. In several places the games held the entire interest of the towns
concerned and business houses closed for the afternoon when the boys of rival towns were fighting for county
or state championship honors.

Early this year reports from Legion officials in various states indicated a rapidly growing interest in junior baseball.

New York reported that state would have forty leagues going before the season would be fairly under way.
Montana's state executive committee of the Legion voted on January 11
to encourage the contests in every way it could. California has emphasized junior baseball in bulletins that have been sent to every post, the adjutant, James K. Fisk, announced.

"If there is anything in the world that I am particularly interested in it is baseball," is the whole-hearted support given by Hugh W. Wicker, state adjutant of Arkansas, who coached the University of Florida for two years and was a professional baseball player six years.

"The city league is organized," was
the word from Baltimore.

Edwin L. Lindell, state adjutant of Minnesota, reported that greater interest was being shown in junior baseball than last year, and similar letters from nearly every state in the Union have been received by the national Americanism division of the Legion at national headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind.

Post Makes Good Sam With Automobile Show

The Elkton (Md.) post of the American Legion has found that an automobile show, conducted annually, is an important source of revenue, as well as a good thing for the community and merchants. The post's third show held recently cleared more than $450 for the post treasury. It was held in the National Guard armory, rented for the occasion. Nineteen different makes of automobiles
were on display, and radios and electrical appliances were also exhibited.
A total of 3,650 adults attended the show, this in a town of 2,800 population. No admittance charge was made,
the entire revenue being derived from the sale of shop space to dealers. Music was furnished by Legionnaires.
Candy and soft drinks were sold by women of the Legion auxiliary. One room at the show was turned over for the sale of products made by disabled
veterans at Ferry Point Veterans' Bureau hospital near Elkton, and virtually all the articles were disposed of at good prices.

Hilo, Hawaiian Islands, Active in Civic Work

Although separated from the United States by a wide expanse of the Pacific ocean, Hilo post No. 3 of the American Legion at Hilo, Hawaiian Islands, is going forward actively in the Legion's major program for 1927
community service. The post is considering a child welfare and maternity clinic, supplying equipment for junior athletic teams, promoting inter-island
competition in baseball, basket ball
and football, and sponsoring an annual mercantile fair which is the biggest affair of the year in Hilo.

Encourages Study of History

A fund has been created by Department No. 1 of Wilmington to provide the prizes of $5 each to be awarded to the sixth grade pupils
in the local schools who attain the highest efficiency in the study of American history.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 27, 1927.

The market price for titles would seem to be depreciating, for it appears that an American woman was able to induce a prince to marry her
"in name only" for the modest wage of $250 a month. A lot more American money than that has been paid
for titles in the pre-nuptial "settlements."

A contributor to the Atlantic Monthly quotes from a document in which President John Adams confessed to a great fondness for hard
"cyder," which he declined to drink
until it was "a year old," and often two and sometimes three. "At that age it must have had a fierce kick,"
than even the "white mule" of modern Kansas.

Toronto is reported to be wrought
up over the discovery that on Empire
Day the local school children will sing five German and only three British compositions. It is indignantly asked if there is not plenty of good British music, but the general impression is that there is a good deal
less than a plenty, music never having been England's forte.

The Supreme Court having decided that bootleggers must pay income tax, the Collector of Internal Revenue in Chicago and other collectors,
it is stated, have invited all bootleggers to come forward and settle,
promising not to send any embarrassing information to prohibition enforcement offices. This is a practical solution of the problem of obtaining the Government's share of the bootleggers' profits, but it rather suggests protecting the criminal in consideration of his surrender of a part of the "swag."

THAT OTHER FLOOD.

The Mississippi flood will pass, but what of that flood continually pouring over the Canadian border into this country? Little encouragement is to be found in the facts revealed
by the Canadian Customs Investigating Commission while sitting at Windsor, Niagara Falls and other border towns. In regard to partial revelations referring chiefly to the Detroit region we read:

At the larger docks an export business of 2,500 cases of whiskey a night was not uncommon. One export firm controlled by Americans banked more than $200,000 weekly. A dock owner at Ford, Ont., testified to receiving $1,000 a month for the shipping business of a single distillery. One boot-legger acknowledged in court a yearly business of $4,000,000 with Detroit. According to the auditor of the Canadian commission, partial returns show that in 1926 liquor valued at $20,500,000 crossed the border near Detroit; this was at Canadian prices.
American prices would be several times as much; and the estimate did not cover the unreported books of five ten companies. The ramifications of the trade reached all over the Middle West.

The Canadian authorities are alarmed at the corruption and criminality incident to the illicit transportation within their own borders. The bootleggers bribing Canadian as well as American officials and hijacking and violence obtaining on both sides of the line. With such a record for a single section, what must be the startling story for the whole 3,000-mile border? After long dryness Ontario is to become wet again on June
1. This ought to reduce corruption on the Canadian side, but it can not fail to increase the flood.

AN EXTRAORDINARY WILL.

The will of a Wall Street man recently probated in New York State contains provisions without a parallel
in the history of such documents.
"To my valet, I leave my clothes that he has been stealing from me regularly for the past ten years. To my chauffeur, I leave my car. He has almost ruined me and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job." This much, by itself, might seem for a grin but not an incredible touch of humor. But this is not all. The Wall Street man's nearest business associate receives the following bequest: "To my daughter, I leave the suggestion that she take some other clever man
in with him at once if he expects to do any business." The son-in-law does this as follows: "To my daughter, I leave $100,000. She will need
it. The only good place of business
her husband ever did was to marry me." The easy-going, indolent action of the house was provided with this rude awakening: "To my son, I leave the pleasure of earning a living. For thirty-five years he has thought the pleasure was all mine.

He was mistaken." The deepest thrill of the testator's keen blade reads as follows: "To my wife, I leave her lover and the knowledge that I wasn't the fool she thought I was."

Did this man die with his eyes
open after being outrageously abused
on every hand, or was it merely that,
as a disillusioned and bored cynic,
he could not resist exercising his talent for sardonic humor and breathing mockery even from the tomb? Whatever the true answer,
his family will remember his derisive grin in death to their last days, and it is reasonably safe to conclude that his will is the most extraordinary on record.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

WHAT IS CANCER?

Cancer may be defined as a law-
less, aimless, irresistible multiplication of cells within the body.

This is the definition of Prof.
James Muller of Queens' University.
The growth itself, and parts of it that escape to grow elsewhere, are all composed of the original cells of the part of the body where it first began to grow.

And what is the peculiarity about
the cancer cell?

It is not peculiar at all, because
as far as our scientists can learn by the microscope, by endless experiments, there is no essential difference between the cancer cell and the normal cell of the part. Just think of that for a moment. This terrible growth, that means death to thousands daily throughout the world, is really just the normal cells which have become "lawless, aimless and irresistible."

As you know, at least 90 per cent
of cancer occurs after forty years of age. If then these cells are the normal cells what causes them to become lawless, aimless, and to multiply?

In experiments on small animals
it has been shown that irritation
from chemicals can produce a skin cancer, if the irritation is maintained for six months or more.

In some occupations where tar and oil are handled, skin cancer is more prevalent than in other occupations.

Briefly then, something irritates
the surface of the skin, or the surface lining of the internal organs,
and cancer starts.

One investigator is of the opinion
that it takes a number of years, perhaps an average of twelve years, as the average time required for chronic irritation to develop into cancer in the human being. But not every individual who is subjected to those irritations develops cancer.

REMARKABLE HEALING
OF SEVERE SKIN
TROUBLE RECORDED

Had resisted every treatment
for more than a year

San Francisco, Cal., May 15.—
"I wish to write to you in regard to a very remarkable healing made by your Resinol Ointment. An acquaintance of mine had a severe case of skin irritation between the toes which caused deep cracks to form. This condition had existed for over a year and every known remedy had been tried without success. Finally I procured your Resinol Ointment and the trouble was healed in two weeks. I hope this will be the means of helping others as many people seem to be suffering from this condition. I think you, and hope they will always be available
for treating skin troubles." —

F. Rummel, D. D., rector of St.
Joseph's Church, 125th street and Morningside avenue, New York city,
will celebrate on Sunday the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood. Monsignor Rummel was appointed a Papal Chamberlain in 1924 at the request of Cardinal Hayes.

Monsignor Rummel was born in Baden, Germany, in 1876. He came to New York with his parents in 1882, and was graduated from St.
Boniface's parochial school in East
47th street, and entered St. Mary's College, conducted by the Redemptorist at Northeast, Pa. His college studies were at the Benedictine College of St. Anselm at Manchester,
N. H., from which he was graduated in 1896.

In the fall of 1896 Monsignor Rummel entered St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie. In 1899 he was sent to the American College at Rome and was ordained to the holy priesthood May 24, 1902, by Cardinal Raspighi, Vicar of Rome, and received the degree of doctor of divinity.

Returning to New York he was assigned as an assistant to the late Monsignor Lammell at St. Joseph's Church, East 37th street, and after five years was promoted to the pastorate of St. Peter's Church in this city, being at that time but thirty-one years of age. While at St.
Peter's he erected the new school,
renovated the church, and built an addition to the rectory, besides liquidating a large amount from a long standing indebtedness on the church properties. He always took a keen interest in the religious and civic affairs of the city while a resident, and was very well known.

His ability as an organizer and administrator, while an inhabitant here, was recognized by the diocesan authorities, and in 1912, the young pastor was appointed dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, which office he held until 1915, when he was promoted to the parish of St.
Anthony of Padua, East 168th street,
New York city.

In May, 1924, when His Eminence
Patrick Cardinal Hayes returned from Rome, where he had been elevated to the Sacred College of Cardinals, he announced that the Holy Father had conferred Papal honors on a number of priests, and among them was Monsignor Rummel. The parishioners of St. Anthony's and Monsignor Rummel's friends, irrespective of creed, gave a grand testimonial in his honor. On this occasion he was the recipient of a purse
of $1,500 from the Bronx Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, of which he was a director.

Later in the same year, 1924, Monsignor Rummel was transferred to the pastorate of St. Joseph's, his present charge.

While at St. Anthony's he accumulated a building fund of over $100,000 for a new school which is now in the course of construction,
and at St. Joseph's he has renovated the church, school and rectory, and has built on West 127th street, one of the finest convents in New York city, with accommodations for twenty-four nuns.

For the past four years he has been one of the Synodal Judges of the archdiocese.

Monsignor Rummel's sacerdotal
silver jubilee will be celebrated with a solemn high Mass of thanksgiving
at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, at which time the Right Rev. Auxiliary Bishop, John J. Dunn will preside.
The jubilarian will be the celebrant,
and he will be assisted by the Rev.
Andrew Neufeld, O. M. Cap., formerly a New York diocesan priest, and a native of Kingston, as deacon, and
the Rev. John B. Cherry, of St.
Teresa's Church, New York city, a classmate as sub-deacon. The master of ceremonies will be the Rev. George Zentgraf and the Rev. Emil N.
Komora. The Rev. John J. Hickey,
V. F., formerly pastor of St. Mary's Church in this city, and now pastor
of St. Joseph's Church on Sixth avenue, New York city, will preach
the sermon.

On Sunday evening there will be special evening devotions with a solemn procession of 1,000 parochial school children. On Monday morning at 9 o'clock there will be a solemn high Mass for the living and deceased benefactors of the parish,
and on Tuesday morning there will be a solemn Mass for the children.
On Monday evening the children will give an entertainment in honor of their pastor in the school hall.

A grand civic celebration of Monsignor Rummel's jubilee will take place on Tuesday evening at the Concourse Plaza, Concourse and 163rd street. Dr. Hugh N. Cox will be chairman of the reception and the speakers will include Monsignor Michael J. Lavelle, rector of St.
Patrick's Cathedral; the Rev. George
N. Zentgraf and the Hon. John P.
Nugent, who will present the jubilarian with a testimonial from his parishioners and friends.

A number of Monsignor Rummel's Kingston admirers and friends have signed their intention of being present on the different occasions
during the jubilee.

Where Men Are Men

Alf P. James, the Mexican bandit
in "Rio Rita," tells of a fake Texas
cowboy who roamed around Times square claiming to be attached to a Wild West show playing Coney Island.

One day, while bragging to a crowd of open-mouthed yaps, he bumped into a real cowpuncher, who promptly stood him on his head. After picking himself up and running to a safe distance,
he defiantly shook his fist and yelled
back:

"You can assault me here in the crowded city, but wait until I get you out on the plains."—New York Morning Telegraph.

Facts as to Suicide

Henpecked husbands may be surprised to know it, but suicide is more frequent among the unmarried than the married, according to a study of 507 cases made by Dr. S. Serin, a physician of Paris, and reported by the French correspondent of the American Medical association.

Suicide is resorted to as the way
out of life's problems more frequently
by men than by women, and more often by the elderly rather than the merely adult, Doctor Serin finds. He divides the causes of suicide into five classes: insanity, alcoholism, severe grief, incurable disease and poverty.

Q. How does the Flat Band Method build longer wear into United States Tires?

A. The Flat Band Method, invented and patented by the United States Rubber Company, puts longer wear into a tire because it is the most precise method of tire building ever developed.

It is comparable to the exact engineering practice of bridge design and construction. Just as the position, length and load of each cable in a bridge are calculated and fixed in advance, so with the cords in a United States Tire.

By the Flat Band Method the plies are laid without tension. The length of each cord is precisely right. The relation of the cords, one to another, is exact.

The result is a tire in which uniform tension and strength of every cord are assured. The load is equalized all around. Longer wear follows.

Little Girl Carried

Three Miles by Wind

Rock Springs, Texas.—An apparently well-founded story that Mrs. Burrows, six, one of the uninjured survivors of the tornado catastrophe here, was carried three miles by the twister and gently dropped, was given credence here among Red Cross relief workers.

The child, who said the wind "carried me away," was found three miles from the demolished home of her parents, under circumstances discrediting any theory that she could have wandered to that spot.

The youngster said she was dropped there by the wind.

USE HANGMAN'S ROPE TO ESCAPE

Prisoners Slide From Roof on Death Line.

Columbia, Miss.—By means of the ropes used in the execution in the Marion county jail here last year of Jeff Wallace for wife murder, H. E. McKeown, alleged embezzler, and John Sherwood, charged with the theft of an automobile, recently made their escape from jail in broad daylight.

McKeown and Sherwood made their way to the attic of the jail by climbing upon the cells and going through a trap door in the overhead ceiling. With the hangman's rope tied to another long rope used by Sheriff Branton in springing the death trap, the prisoners, after emerging from the attic onto the roof, let themselves to the ground unscathed and made good their escape from the city.

Their absence was discovered by a passer-by seeing the long rope hanging from the roof in the hallway. Officers were notified and soon the sheriff and deputies were hurrying in all directions in quest of the fugitives. Those who went on the west side of Pearl river soon overtook McKeown near Jamestown, five miles from town.

Young Sherwood, has not yet been located, but the sheriff has information indicating that he crossed Pearl river at the steel bridge and was making his way to the north, his destination presumably being Frankfort, Ill., his home town.

McKeown, before his trouble, resided here and was a salesman for a packing company, whose funds he is alleged to have embezzled. When arrested two years ago he was released on bond signed by local citizens.

He soon disappeared and was not located until last week, when he was taken into custody at Baton Rouge, La., under the name of A. F. Newman, just as he with his pretty young wife were arranging to leave for Oklahoma.

Beats Wife to Death in Hunt for Savings

New York.—The lure of a few hundred dollars which he belatedly his wife, Helen De Mars, sixty years old, had concealed in her stockings, caused Edward De Mars, fifty-eight, to beat her to death with a hammer in their West Seventy-first street apartment, he confessed recently.

The woman's body, with head crushed, was found lying across the bed. Her stockings, in which she was accustomed to put money she collected from some 20 roomers in the house, were slit from the tops down.

De Mars said he had found no money in his wife's stockings as he expected.

The police declared Mrs. De Mars had several thousand dollars in a savings bank and had made out a will leaving $7,000 to her husband. She also had at least one insurance policy for $1,000 of which he was the beneficiary.

De Mars, six feet tall and weighing more than 200 pounds, was an ironworker, but in the last ten years had worked at odd jobs. The De Mars were married 20 years ago in Norristown, Pa.

Mother Slays Baby to Send It to Heaven

Frankville, Pa.—Mrs. Mary E. Helme, aged twenty-seven, of Frankville, is in the county jail at Pottsville, charged with shooting to death her three-and-a-half-year-old son, William, at only child, as he slept in his bed.

"Now I am sure he is in heaven," said Mrs. Helme, after she fired four bullets at the child. Two of the bullets went through the boy's head and he died in the State hospital, Fountain Springs.

Mrs. Helme was committed to the county jail by Judge Parnell. She is believed to have been temporarily insane. She has been melancholy for some weeks. Her mother, Mrs. Peter Franks, hearing the shots, rushed into the child's bedroom, and with the help of Mrs. Snyder, a neighbor, wrested the revolver from her daughter's hand. Mrs. Helme appeared calm a short time after the shooting.

Blow Restores Memory

Toronto.—After losing his memory twenty-five years ago and wandering over the world as a seaman, Frank Burgess has regained his faculties as a result of a blow on the head by a falling tree. When he recovered consciousness he was able to recall past experiences in Australia and South America.

Interesting Combinations of Materials and Colors in New Outfits.

Compose is a dominant word this spring. It applies to many different combinations of materials, of colors and of garments, worked out in such a way as to be suitable together and harmonious with one another.

One interpretation of the compose idea, according to the Woman's Home Companion, is a jacket of plain flannel worn over a sleeveless dress of printed silk. The colors may match the background of the print or it may correspond to the spots in color. Similarly a challie dress with long sleeves and a plain flannel jacket would make a useful outfit for knockabout wear.

The sleeveless dress which forms the basic part of the compose costume features a V neckline and a series of side plaits across the front of the skirt. Its yoke is a variation of the gypsy girdle style coming well down over the hips at back and sides but sloping upward at the center front. This outline is accentuated by the slender bow and facings of plain silk, as is also the pointed neck. This dress is constructed in such a way that the bodice blouses a little above the gypsy yoke.

The lines of the jacket are extremely simple, with plain straight collar and set-in sleeves. Rows of machine stitching in heavy silk give it character. They may be worked in self-color or repeat one of the contrasting tones that appear in the dress underneath. Even if this coat is not made up as part of the same compose outfit it would be excellent as an extra separate garment either in the flannel or velvet. Or one can reverse the composition, having a figured jacket and a plain dress.

The dress can be made with long sleeves if preferred.

Tub Silk Blouse Adds to the Tailored Suit

Since suits are seen everywhere, it is to be assumed that blouses and waistcoats to go with them receive some attention. Tub silk blouses with tailored neck and sleeve finish and worn with a four-in-hand tie are fresh and smart looking with the strictly tailored suit. For the less formal type of suit the blouse with an open neck that comes straight across, back and front alike, is much in evidence. Then again this type of blouse often matches the suit fabric in color and is worn outside the skirt, making a three-piece suit effect. In the little waistcoats, plain and striped checked linens, piques, rep cords and heavy silk crepes are favored, with notched collars and pointed ends. In general, the blouses are as varied as the suits in style.

Snake, Lizard, Cited in Foot Notes of Fashion

Snake and lizard are outstanding favorites among the leathers and color has invaded the shoe world, announces Fashionable Dress Magazine for May. Kidskin is featuring pinkish tans that sometimes reach the delicate loveliness of bois de rose. Satin shoes are less prominent, and there is a tendency toward the slightest widening and shortening of the vamp. Heels have grown so high that the Spanish form seems precarious and a consequent revival of the curved French heel is noted.

"There is no earthly ailment but somewhere God has a herb for its healing," says a quaint writer. "The trouble is that we think the herb has a hard foreign name. We seek it in far lands, but find it at last in our own garden plot."

FOR THE INVALID'S TRAY

To the whimsical palate of an invalid, a dainty is far more acceptable whatever it may be, if it is served in some unusual form.

For the busy housewife who has but one pair of hands on which to depend, in performing her various duties, time is a most important consideration, so she has little time for frills.

A few moments spent in arranging and garnishing a dish will make all the difference between its being eaten with pleasure or refused with distaste.

It is not easy for everybody to prepare a dish so that it appeals to the eye; but with little practice the art may be acquired.

So many fetching things may be done with the ordinary foods common in every home. Take the lemon or orange—a whole set of dishes may be made from a few. The lemon has a spout all ready made for a pitcher, cut a ring for a handle, scoop out the pulp, shave off the bottom to make it level and behold a pitcher, not for cream, but for jellies or custards, junket or tapioca. Cut the lemon crosswise, scoop out and put on handles and you have a sugar bowl; cut a smaller lemon the same way, insert a ring for handle and you have a cup. Figs, using toothpicks for legs, black pins for eyes will delight the heart of a child—a lemon is shaped like the body of a pig.

With dates, figs and raisins flattened and decorated with cloves, all sorts of turtles may be formed. Peanuts with toothpicks will make all kinds of animals and men. Unless one has tried doing these things for a grown person, it will surprise you to see how much these childish toys will please an adult. We are but children at heart and when one is ill, one is ill mentally as well as physically; so simple things please and divert us.

With the varieties of gelatin on the market, with custards and fruits one has a large field in serving the invalid.

come to pass that sweaters—usually, but not always sleeveless—are considered good form with the tailleur, Patou and others of repute, including, Chanel, have enthused over this idea and developed it with variations, all of which seem to merit approval.

The shops show also vestees, which add to the joy of wearing a suit. One seldom removes one's jacket, and, this being the case, a vestee supplies comfort as well as the necessary chic. Banding the blouse or vestee with the material of which the suit is made is one of the clever developments of a season rather remarkable for cleverness of detail.

It has also come to pass that metal cloth is deemed a right and fitting fabric to fraternize with homespun, tweeds, and soft wools—such stuffs, in fact, as go to make the spring suit. Why not, if metal is considered good form with worsted, and we have evidence of this everywhere? Many of the smartest sweaters of the season are alternately striped with metal and wool.

There are, of course, some so-called lingerie gilets, vestees, and collars and cuffs sets shown in the shops, but the preference continues to be for crepes, many of which are pleated, or have soft pleated frills and tiny tucks to commend them.

When one chooses the so-called lingerie sets, they are apt to be preferred in twine and even in colors rather than white, unless one is going in for the bold and striking contrast of black and white, a headliner this spring.

Many "Black Fridays"
Black Friday is any Friday marked by a public calamity, as in England, by the advance of the Pretender to Derby (December 6, 1745), or by the Annual panic of May 11, 1896, and in the United States by similar disasters in New York on September 24, 1869, and September 19, 1873. Good Friday is also termed "Black Friday" from the color of the vestments worn on that day by the clergy.

Historic Battles
The battle of Shiloh was the costliest in life of any battle of the Civil war, but it is said more men were killed in the twelve-mile radius embracing the field of Frederickburg, Spotsylvania, Chancellorsville and the Wilderness than in any similar ones in modern history prior to the World war.

Mexican Indian Sex

White Man as Monkey
Usually these people (the Mexican Indians) have no correspondence with one at all. To a Mexican a white man or white woman is a sort of phenomenon, just as a monkey is a sort of phenomenon; something to watch and wonder at and laugh at, but not to be taken on one's own plane.

Now, the white man is a sort of extraordinary white monkey that, by cunning, has learned lots of semi-magical secrets of the universe, and made himself boss of the show. Imagine a race of big white monkeys got up in fantastic clothes, and able to kill a man by blinding at him; able to leap through the air in great hops, covering a mile in each leap; able to transmit thoughts by a moment's effort of concentration to some great white monkey or monkeyess a thousand miles away; and you have, from our point of view, something of the picture that the Indian has of us.

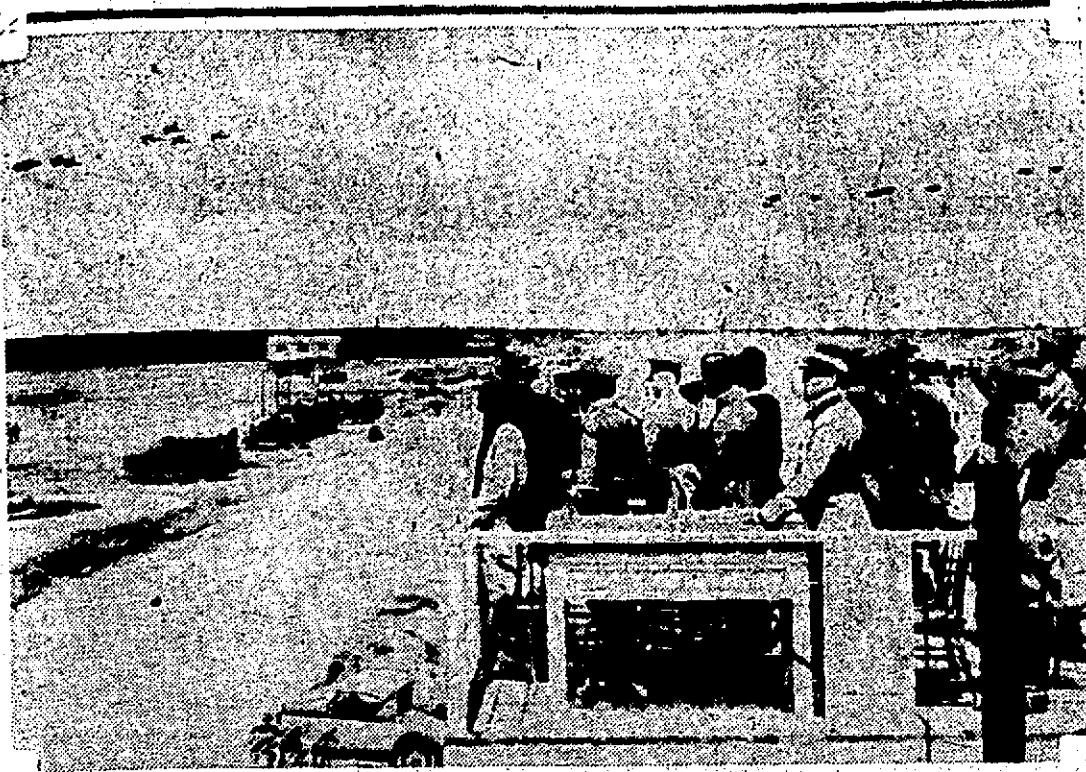

The white monkey has curious tricks. He knows, for example, the time. Now, to a Mexican and an Indian, time is a vague, foggy reality. There are only three times: on in the morning, in the afternoon, in the night. There is even no midday, and no evening.

But to the white monkey, horrible to relate, there are exact spots of time, such as five o'clock, half past nine. The day is a horrible puzzle of exact spots of time.

The same with distance: horrible, terrible distances called two miles, ten miles. To the Indians, there is near and far, and very near, and very far. There is two days or one day. But two miles are as good as twenty to him, for he goes entirely by his feelings. If a certain two miles feels far to him, then it is far. It is very little! But if a certain twenty miles feels near and familiar, then it is not far. Oh, no. It is just a little distance. And he will let you set off in the evening, for night to overtake you in the wilderness, without a qualm. It is not far.—T. H. Lawrence in the Adelphi, London (Living Age).

Secret Governing Board
Cabal means a secret cabinet or governing clique whose measures are unpopular. Such a cabal existed in the reign of Charles II of England, composed of Clifford, Ashley, Buckingham, Arlington and Lauderdale. The initial letters of their names form the word Cabal.

Unavoidable Waste

At least $3,000,000 a year goes down the drains of London in the form of soap. Fat or oil used in making soap is worth something like 10 cents a pound, and owing to the fact that London's water is hard, each thousand gallons of it wastes 18 pounds of soap fat. It would not pay to attempt to recover this fat from sewage, yet there is no other way of saving it.

Speech by Radio

The radio division of the Department of Commerce says that the radio listeners of a message being broadcast really get the message a fraction of a second sooner than the speaker can be heard by an audience, because electric waves travel faster than sound. The difference is very slight, and sometimes atmospheric conditions may interfere.

Who's Who in Eastern Football

New York, May 27 (AP).—The first "who's who" in eastern college football appeared today for the exacting scrutiny of gridiron fandom.

The list, split up into ten groups by the Central Board of Football officials, ranked over 150 teams in the eastern sector according to their football records for the past three or four years as well as their "general position or reputation in athletics."

The rankings were decided upon yesterday by the officials, meeting with Walter K. Oakeson, official representative of 12 big eastern eleven, and sixty coaches and athletic managers of 150 institutions, as a means for selecting the men who will handle whistles in 250 college games next fall. Referees and umpires were nominated to handle all the contests but at the request of Oakeson, the names will not be made public until acceptances are received.

In group A were placed all the eleven represented by Mr. Oakeson with the exception of Brown and Columbia and the addition of Pittsburgh and Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State and Nebraska, ranked for inter-sectional meetings with the east. The remainder of the group included Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Penn State, Syracuse, Cornell, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Army and Navy.

This group was conceded a prior right to the services of prominent officials and Oakeson named the men who will take charge of all games in this group as well as those with colleges outside group A rating. A maximum fee of $100 was set for the services of these officials. Agreement also was reached to draw lots for the services of men nominated by different colleges with the same classification.

Group B was made up of Brown, aspirant for eastern title honors last fall; Washington and Jefferson, Lafayette, West Virginia, Colgate, Columbia, Carnegie Tech, victor over Notre Dame, and Georgetown. Georgia Tech came in this group for inter-sectional classification.

Group C, Rutgers, Lehigh, Holy Cross, Bucknell, Boston College, New York University, Maryland, West Virginia Wesleyan, with Marquette, Detroit, Drake, Quantico Marines, Washington and Lee.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Dripping skies over the eastern sector of the baseball wars not only have tightened the pennant races in both National and American Leagues but have set the New York Yankees and Giants to wondering just what the weather man has against them.

In the past two days the rampaging Chicago White Sox, taking advantage of the Yankees' inactivity to win three balls games, have crept within a game and a half of the American League champions. And the Giants today found themselves in third place, a half game behind another Chicago crew that is pounding hard on the trail of the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Nether the Yankees nor the Giants had games scheduled yesterday but it rained just as it had most of the week. The Yankees tried to play the West Point Cadets and the skies held off until Babe Ruth had struck out against the slants of "Tim" Timberlake. Then the deluge fell as the Yankees led 2 to 0 in the second inning.

The White Sox, "improving each shining hour," kept after Detroit for 12 innings before blanching two singles with Gehring's error to push over the run needed for a 4-3 victory. Old Red Faber held the Tigers runless after allowing a run in each of the first three innings.

Although Pittsburgh kept on its winning surge with a 2 to 1 victory over the world champion St. Louis Cardinals to build the longest string of wins of the season—eight—the Cubs clung to the Pirate trail with a rousing 11 to 2 conquest of Eppa Jeppa Rixey and the Cincinnati Reds. Vic Aldridge was supreme on the Pittsburgh mound, doling out three hits in a duel with Haines and Keen.

Two twin bills in the American League found the teams where they started when the shooting was all over. Cleveland split a bargain affair with the St. Louis Browns, winning the second tilt, 9 to 7, with a three run rally in the ninth after O'Rourke had won the first for St. Louis, 2 to 1, with a rousing home run in the tenth. Lefty Grove was pitching the Athletics to a shutout victory over Boston in the first game of a double header when something slipped in the ninth and the Sox scored once. Philadelphia won that one 3 to 1 but lost the night cap with the influence of Tony Welser's clever shoots, 4 to 3.

Stringent Rules For Amateurs

Philadelphia, May 27 (AP).

Prompted by a desire to safeguard the status of amateur athletes and prevent alleged surreptitious financial dealings, the intercollegiate A. A. U. today took the initiative in urging more stringent rules by the Amateur Athletic Union, the national track and field governing body.

To this end, Gustavus T. Kirby, chairman of the advisory committee of the I. C. A. A. A. A., announced the college organization has approved a proposed amendment to the A. A. U. constitution, which would compel the manager of any "unmentioned" meet to file a sworn statement of expenses and disbursements within thirty days after such meet. The amendment will be brought before the next annual convention of the A. A. U. in Cincinnati next November.

The amendment would require the statement of accounts "to give in detail all receipts and disbursements relative to such meet, all obligations or arrangements with athletes or anyone representing or claiming to represent such athletes relating to the entering, appearing or competing of any athletes at such meet and any obligations incurred therefor."

The A. A. U. under the proposed amendment also would be empowered to call on any "registered athlete to furnish within fifteen days after notification an itemized statement of expenses and all moneys or other things of value received by him or promised to him or passing to any member of his family of anyone in view of his competition."

BRITISH POLO TEAM TO TRAIN AT RYE

New York, May 27 (AP).—The preliminary training of the invading British polo team, due here in July for the international cup matches with America, will take place at the Westchester Biltmore Club at Rye, N. Y., the United States Polo Association announced today.

The main body of players probably will arrive late in the month, although a batch of 38 Indian ponies is expected here June 27. Captain C. T. I. Roark, brilliant young Irish player, may not arrive until shortly before the matches, scheduled to start at Meadowbrook, September 5, due to his play in England this summer with Stephen Sanford's Harriers.

The Westchester club was chosen as training ground because of the successful holding there of the intercollegiate championships. The college players start this season's tournament June 16 with the final June 25, leaving the field in perfect condition for the Englishmen.

RAIN REIGNED OVER LOCAL DIAMONDS THURSDAY

Due to the heavy rain Thursday evening the Industrial League game between the Central Hudson Gas & Electric team and the Silk Mill aggregation had to be postponed until some future date. Jupiter Pluvius has not considered the league very favorably and dampens the diamond quite frequently, which will mean that the schedule of games will be somewhat prolonged. The next contest is scheduled to be played on the Athletic Field Tuesday at 6:15 p. m., between the Patens and the West Shore nine.

The Pan-Ams were forced to cancel their game with the Hutton A. C. Thursday evening at the Saenger's road grounds because of the rain. The oil representatives and the Huttons will meet on Memorial Day evening on the Pan-Am diamond. In the afternoon of the same day the Pan-Ams will play in Rosendale. On Sunday the local club is scheduled to contest with Tannersville in the mountain district. Carpenter, Hart and Stetzel will be the occupants of the mound for the scheduled games.

Dancing at Kingston Point Casino

The opening of the Kingston Point casino will be held Thursday afternoon, and a number of friends of Edward B. Miller from this city motored there to spend best wishes for a prosperous season at this popular summer outing resort.

May Throw a Homer Into Centerfield

One of the new twirlers with the Athletics is Charles William Willis, an elongated left-hander. He was sent to the box as a relief man in a game against the Yankees at New York. He has a very peculiar delivery. One writer described his motion thus: "The young man stood facing first base as he started to wind, but when he went into his convulsions he faced third and his throwing hand reached back to his hip pocket as he let go."

Joe O'Brien, former president of the American association, and attaché of the New York Giants, was in the press box. O'Brien, an expert on pitching observed dryly:

"One of these days he will lose his bearings and throw a homer into center field."

USE OF RESIN WILL CONTINUE THIS YEAR

Has Had Slight Effect on Batting Averages.

The resin bag is to be used again this season, as it was last year in the National league. Why the powers that be plan to retain it is a mystery. Apparently it did not serve its announced purpose to any great extent.

It was introduced with the idea of cutting down the hitting—of giving the pitcher more of an advantage than he had had over the batter. However, a figure or two. In 1925-54 batters in the National league finished the season with averages above the .300 mark. In 1926 (with the resin bag in the pitchers' box) 51 batters turned in averages over .300.

True, the total number of bases collected by the batters of the league dropped from 17,747 to 16,198 and the number of home runs from 634 to 438, but this drop can be attributed to the change in the baseball and not to the use of resin.

Whether the moguls admit it or not, the opinion is too general to be in error that the ball used in 1926 lacked the "hop" those of 1925 had.

That the application of the foreign substance increased the effectiveness of the hurriers but little, if at all, is indicated by the fact that there was a drop of but a little over 100 bases on balls in the 1926 season. This difference in a matter of some 3,000 passes issued unintentionally or otherwise during the year is insignificant.

And what a fuss was stirred up by the introduction of the little white bag. It was going to bring a baseball war and everything else of a dire nature.

Maybe it did, but we missed it.

Jack Quinn of Athletics Shames Young Twirlers

Young pitchers in the big leagues who offer the excuse that they are not "spring pitchers" when they turn in poor performances with a nearly solid month of training behind them were put to shame by the ancient Jack Quinn of the Athletics in St. Augustine recently.

Quinn, who is forty-two years old and a veteran of many hard campaigns, stepped off the full nine innings against the Glans, allowing only six hits and one run and was removed only to make room for a pinch hitter in the tenth inning.

The only Giant to drive in a run at Quinn's expense was Melvin Ott, who was born in 1909. The year Jack broke into the major leagues with the Yankees.

Good at Football

The Cleveland baseball writer who declared that Riga Stephenson (shown in photograph) at one time a mighty football player at the University of Alabama, played some of his greatest football, referring to kicks and breaks, while a member of the Cleveland infield, evidently was right, remarks John E. Gray in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

When the Chicago Cubs were here Joe McCarthy was using Stephenson at third base and hoped to keep him there throughout the season. Fredgan, the third baseman of the team last year, won't lifting. But a few days of league play at third brought grief to the former Alabama gridiron star, and now he is back in the outfield, where he belongs.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells of Pleasant Home Treatment to Bring Swift Relief.

So-called Stomach Troubles—indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, sourness, etc., are in probability cases out of ten, evidence of too much acid in the stomach, souring the food, causing the formation of gas and starting cold indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes a full, oppressive burning feeling known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining. Get rid of Gas and Acidity, and you get rid of indigestion.

To stop or prevent the sourness and gas, to neutralize the stomach acids and keep the stomach sweet and free from indigestion, a tablespoonful or four tablets of Bismarck's Magnesia should be taken in a little water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, pain or acidity is felt. This quickly sweetens the stomach, neutralizes the acidity, stops the pain and is harmless, and inexpensive to use.

Bismarck's Magnesia, powder or tablets only can be obtained from any drug store and its daily use keeps the stomach in fine condition, enabling it to do its work without the aid of artificial digestants.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—There seems to be quite a desire to have the boy hero of the air keep to terra firma when travelling. Railroad executives meeting at Atlantic City have offered him the use of a special train and a company at Syracuse has presented him an automobile.

Curtis Field, N. Y.—Applications for instruction in flying number as much daily as they did weekly before a clever young fellow hopped a long way from these parts. Among the applicants have been ten women.

Evanston, Ill.—"Charlie is my darling," an old Scotch song, will be sung by Miss Anna Case tomorrow night at the North Shore musical festival, with the spoken preface: "I am re-dedicating this to Charlie Lindbergh."

St. Cloud, France—Pity Count Salm! He tried so hard to beat Nicholas Mihau of Rumania at tennis that one foot was bruised and bleeding after he got licked in five sets.

New York—Having slipped their fifteen-year-old brother's tow in the subway after he had brought them safely from Raleigh, N. C., Arnold and George Miller, 11 and 8, respectively must study a lot of geography in school at Greenfield, Mass. Adams, the guide and elder brother, so insists. They failed to follow him close enough from the Pennsylvania station to the Grand Central. After three hours the police found them at a subway station of their course.

Oakland, Cal.—Too much time in college is spent ruining good voices in developing cheer leaders, in the opinion of Glenn P. Woods, of the board of education. He gave his views in telling the National Congress of Parents and Teachers the benefits of community music.

RECENT EVENTS IN THE WORLD ON WHEELS.

Retail sales of Graham Bros. trucks and commercial cars together with overseas shipments during the first two weeks of May broke all previous records for the year, according to figures just released by the company. The record figure for this period of 12 working days is a total of 2,957 units—2,354 retail deliveries to customers by dealers in the United States and Canada and 603 shipped overseas.

Some wise man remarked that "it pays to advertise." Now he is being called the modern King Solomon by the Wisconsin Motor Company, Oldsmobile dealer at Washington, D. C., following the sale of an Oldsmobile sport coupe through an advertisement published more than 21 years ago. The advertisement was printed in The Sunday Magazine of January 21, 1906, and, besides extolling the well known virtues of the Oldsmobile of that day, it offered an art calendar of the current year to those sending ten cents and a coupon contained in the advertisement. Meyer F. Miller, 300 H street, N. E., Washington, chanced across a copy of this ancient magazine. He was thinking of buying a new car and the Oldsmobile advertisement caught his eye. He decided that a company that manufactured good cars 21 years ago and had been at it ever since must know how to build automobiles—and he answered the advertisement, even enclosing 10 cents for a 1906 calendar. Without divulging the secrets of automobile merchandising, it can be said that not long afterward an Oldsmobile salesman was knocking at Mr. Miller's office door. The delivery of a new sport coupe soon followed.

Among all the throngs who have visited the Chrysler plants during the spring of 1927 none has been more interested in the marvels of mechanical and engineering achievements to be seen there than Dr. Otto Kauffmann, manufacturing chemist of Neiderstedt, Dresden, Germany. Dr. Kauffmann came 4,700 miles to Detroit to make this visit. He is an original European Chrysler fan and owns a Chrysler "70" that was one of the first ten Chryslers imported into Germany. He bought it in December, 1924.

An Essex Super-Six sedan de luxe, with a number of advanced ideas in body construction is announced by the Hudson Motor Car Co. Shipments on this new model have begun, and the cars are on exhibition in the display rooms of Peter A. Black, Hudson-Exeter distributor. For the first time in motor car history, it is claimed by Hudson-Exeter engineers, an "airplane type" of construction has been utilized, with aluminum panels fabricated on a framework of steel. This unique construction is said to combine strength and rigidity of construction with lightness of weight. Even though this sedan is substantially larger and roomier than the standard Essex body type, the size has been obtained, it is declared, without excessive weight, so that standards of performance are entirely maintained. The body is manufactured by the Hudson organization in its own body plant.

Noted Speaker at Legion Auxiliary

Former National President Tells Local Auxiliary About Necessity
for Maintaining Their Organization and Increasing Membership.

On Thursday afternoon the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Kingston Post of the American Legion were honored by having as their guests three distinguished officers of the national and state organization: Mrs. O. E. Oliphant, a former national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion; as well as a noted newspaper woman of New Jersey; Mrs. Garrison, another past national president and welfare chairman of the state; and Mrs. Burnham, president of the New York State Legion Auxiliary.

Preceding the general meeting of the Post, the guests of honor together with Mrs. O'Brien of the New Palis unit and Mrs. Robert E. Haley, president; Mrs. Mooney and Mrs. Amfeld, vice-presidents; Mrs. T. J. Mickey, chairman of the executive committee, all officers of the Kingston Post; Mrs. Jacobs, county chairman; and Mrs. Stanley Matthews, district chairman, enjoyed a luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The meeting at the Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street was opened with the singing of Star Spangled Banner by all present. Mrs. Haley, the president, presided.

Greetings from Visitors.
After greeting those present, Mrs. Haley expressed her pleasure and the honor conferred upon the Post in that there were present three women distinguished in Legion Auxiliary circles and she first introduced Mrs. Burnham, the state chairman. Mrs. Burnham expressed her pleasure in being in Kingston but said she had come to listen and to receive a message, not to speak, except to express her hearty appreciation of the district chairman, Mrs. Stanley Matthews, whose assistance she was counting on largely. Mrs. Garrison, a past president, also expressed the wish to listen and gather inspiration rather than to talk, other than to hope for an unprecedentedly successful coming state convention.

The program at this point was delightfully varied by the singing by Mrs. Helen Stern-Mann, accompanied by Mrs. Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., of "A Heart That's Free," by Robyn. Mrs. Mann was enthusiastically encouraged and graciously sang an encore.

Mrs. Oliphant's Address.
Mrs. Haley introduced Mrs. Oliphant, the speaker of the afternoon. Mrs. Oliphant said she was very happy to come to New York state, for she always gained a real inspiration from this state, and she congratulated both Mrs. Burnham and Mrs. Garrison on being connected with the New York Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Oliphant said she had been asked to speak particularly on "Membership." She considered the American Legion Auxiliary the greatest women's organization in America today; an organization unique in that it took its entire program from a men's organization. In 1917-18 our men defended our flag and she considered it an honor and privilege to be one of the fortunate women invited by those men to form a voluntary organization to supplement their own. She considered the Auxiliary an "I can" organization. She thought the need of such an organization was far greater now than in war times, for there was greater need of keeping up patriotic fervor in times of peace than of war. And the first duty of all women belonging to the Auxiliary, the speaker considered to be that of loyal service to the organization, with one exception—the church. We are standing for "God and Country," she said.

Urged to Increase Membership.
Every woman present was urged by Mrs. Oliphant to do her utmost to bring into the Auxiliary membership, before Memorial Day, one new member from among the Kingston women who are eligible to that honor. The work of rehabilitation and child welfare work, as well as the necessity of greatly increasing the prestige of the Legion Auxiliary, were stressed by the speaker. The latter could best be achieved, according to Mrs. Oliphant, by greater, more organized, and if necessary, paid-for publicity.

Mrs. Oliphant devoted considerable time to the subject of Americanization past, present and to come, and sounded a warning against insidious Bolshevism, especially in schools, a menace which she said was greatly underestimated.

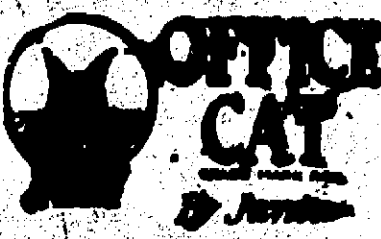

Stand for National Defense.
In view of the very reason for the existence of both the American Legion and the Auxiliary, Mrs. Oliphant begged of the women to stand firmly for National Defense, and to urge other women to realize the necessity of the enforcement of such defense laws.

Mrs. Oliphant said she had heard a chaplain in the late war say that no man ever went over the top whose last thought was not of some woman, therefore it behooved the American womanhood to go live and carry on as to be worthy of such thoughts from our American men in times of peace as well as war. An Auxiliary made up of such women was bound to go forward.

Mrs. Oliphant was given a rising vote of thanks, after which light refreshments were served.

Worms That Eat Metal
An insect known as the steel wood worm can do considerable damage to lead.

A piece of pine wood infested with larvae of this worm had been used as a core on which to roll some sheet lead. When, on reaching maturity, they attempted to escape, they cut through the lead instead of traveling lengthwise through the wood.

Hobson—"Why do you call your house a bungalow?"
Dobson—"Well, the job was a bungle and I still owe for it."

If all the serial stories were placed end to end in this world, they would have to be continued in the next.

Like Joyous Birds.
The little birdies love their mates And sweet contentment find In living as we all should do, Ever being good and kind. They joyously will soar aloft, Their sweetest songs to sing; And what delight into our hearts, Their little songs will bring.

Never hesitate to ask for advice—everybody likes to give it.

Fresh—"See here, waiter, this knife isn't clean."
Fresher—"Why, it must be. The last thing I cut with it was a bar of soap."

Ask a man's advice and you flatter him, take it and you may want to fight him.

The way of the transgressor is a heck of a lot of fun.

At 5 A. M.—Angry Father: Well, young lady, explain yourself. Where have you been all night?

Flapper Daughter: Oh, daddy dear, I was sitting up with the sick son of the sick man you are always telling mamma you sat up with!

Nurse—Mr. Maloney, you are the father of quadruplets.

Maloney—What! thing things that be runnin' around on four legs!

There is always a bright side. Even a mirror doesn't look like much from the back.

A Kingston doctor's young son was entertaining a friend in his father's office. They were looking with admiration at a skeleton kept in a closet off the office. "Where did he get it?" the guest whispered. "Oh, he's had it a long time. I guess maybe it's his first patient," replied the son.

Our memory goes back to the time when a girl's shortest petticoat was longer than her longest skirt is now.

All of us are wondering how others manage to live within their incomes.

Jim: "One of these showgirls is going to ride down the street this noon on horseback, dressed in one of the original seven veils."

Tim: "Fine. I'll be there. I haven't seen a horse for years."

All wealth comes out of the ground, but only after long and hard digging.

Automobiles, fur coats and silk stockings—and yet we have many people who complain of an income tax.

"Can't you love me better than that?"

"What do you think I am, an octopus?"

Man (just acquitted) to lawyer: "Thanks very much. What on earth should I have done without you?"

Lawyer: "About five years."

Dear Old Lady: "I see you have some land for sale?"

Real Estate Agent: "Yes, madam."

Dear Old Lady: "Well, I want about three yards of nice, new land to grow some seeds on."

THE "ACID TEST" FOR ACIDITY

First Bottle of Geyser Water Quickly Lessens Acidity

Drink delicious, sparkling Geyser Water to reduce your acidity. But first drink Hathorn Natural Laxative Water to clear out all the harmful constipating accumulations resulting from acid conditions.

Acidity may be at the bottom of all that "tired-out" feeling which often precedes serious illness. Some of its effects may be bad breath, sour stomach, indigestion, constipation, rheumatism, high blood pressure, colds, grippe and pneumonia.

The State Conservation Commission, in control of the State-owned natural health springs at Saratoga, N. Y., designates Geyser as "by far the best water for the treatment of acidosis found in dyspepsia, neuritis and rheumatism." This is authority worth your complete confidence. Make the best. The first time you feel distress after a meal, drink a bottle of Geyser. Before long, sparkling natural health water, one hour before meals overcomes constipation and gets rid of many causes of sickness and ill-health. NANCY LOVED ART

NANCY had never been to an art show and she had always wanted to see lots and lots of pictures. She loved paintings and drawings. So a friend took her one day to see an exhibition of art in a nearby city.

And oh, how many, many wonderful pictures Nancy saw!

There were paintings of water at night with deserted sailboats, and small gleaming yellow lights shone forth from some of the frames, and there was a lovely painting of a colorful, slightly rippling sea by a beautiful lonely beach which made Nancy think of how she would love to lie down on that beach and close her eyes and dream wonderful dreams.

And Oh, How Many, Many Wonderful Pictures Nancy Saw!

And that picture which made Nancy think of day dreams she was told had won a prize.

Then there was a strange but very marvelous painting of a green pool which reflected a green sky, and there were pictures of snow scenes which showed in the very paintings themselves the dazzling rays of Mr. Sun.

This surprised Nancy almost more than anything.

"To think that the rays and dazzling

lights of the sun can be painted," she said admiringly.

There were paintings of snakes and of birds and of animals which of course interested Nancy.

And there was a painting of morning shadows which was unusually lovely.

And how the people about did enjoy the paintings. Some loved the pictures of windy places, places such as they knew best. Others loved the pictures of quiet, peaceful scenes of meadows and brooks while others loved pictures of the wild and angry, beautiful crashing sea.

Nancy's friend had a guide who showed them about and who gave little talks on the pictures, explaining them, pointing out interesting things and telling about the artists.

And no one was in a hurry to "do up everything in a short time." Everyone loved to look long and interestedly at some especially appealing picture for Nancy said:

"I would rather get to know a few pictures, which I loved well than a lot just to say I'd seen them. Just as I'd rather know a few people I liked really well than to be able to wave my hand to hundreds."

All around, too, were class rooms where there were people painting. One had a class of business men who took a little while off every week to paint pictures, and Nancy told her friend that she was going to tell her daddy about this though she had always said he couldn't even draw a pig except with his eyes shut.

Her daddy had always liked drawing with his eyes shut, he said, because then his queer drawings were supposed to be so strange because he had not been able to see, but when he could see he couldn't make them any better and yet then he had no excuse.

Then Nancy saw through art school in the basement of the building and the classes where pupils were sketching and painting and etching. One girl was modeling with soap and to Nancy's surprise the result was beautiful!

One lovely thing Nancy saw was of Mother Ocean singing a lullaby, and this a pupil had modeled.

And as Nancy looked about her she said:

"Yes, I am going to draw more and more all the time so when I am big I can come to an art school and become a painter, too."

Then, before she left, she saw the pottery and silver, the porcelain and old, beautiful tapestries and beaded bags from all over the world.

And Nancy said she was very glad she lived in the world for it was such an interesting world with so much in it for everyone.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"IN THE NICK OF TIME"

A FEW centuries ago the only book-keeping known was by wooden tallies, which were notched for reckoning of money and time.

As late as the early part of the Eighteenth century such tallies, the width of the notches indicating the desired figure, were issued by the English government as certificates of indebtedness, and were recognized as a species of security. The tallies were made of sticks of willow or hazel, which, after being properly notched, were split lengthwise, one piece being given to the creditor as his receipt, the other being kept as a sort of carbon copy for the record. Rather bulky finance for our day—what do you say?

The contemporary form of the word notch was notched, from which came "nick" and "nick of time."

This is an interesting example of the colorful sidelights on former times that lie concealed in modern terminology.

UNEXPRESSED IMPULSES

A THING is of value only as it is used. Not long since the writer enjoyed the privilege of a visit to the deposit vaults of a trust company in a large city. In one of the boxes in the vault was stored away $1,000,000. It was the property of the trust company and was held by it for reserve purposes. It cost the trust company $500,000 a year to keep that money lying idle in that deposit box. Doubtless the value of having so large a reserve on hand was worth the cost of withdrawing a million dollars from circulation. The law required it for the protection of depositors.

The assets of life expressed in values other than mere money are also very costly when stored away in the deposit boxes of idleness and inaction. A thing to be of value must be used. Unless we use it, we lose it. Nature has a law by which she deprives us of what we do not use. Refuse to speak for a given number of years and we lose the power of speech. Refuse sight to the eyes for the same length of time and we no longer can see. In the Mammoth cave of Kentucky swim fishes in deep waters. They have eyes but cannot see because they have no use for them. Nature is too economical to allow us to possess what we are not willing to put to some use.

The moral values of life meet the same test and work under the same law. In proportion as we give expression to moral values they develop character and enrich life. In proportion as we refuse expression to them we lose the essence of moral values. The light set under a bushel will soon go out. The seed unable to take root in the ground will soon die. The only way we can possess anything is first to give it away. When we try to keep it all to ourselves by not using it, we lose it. The human personality lives only through self-expression. An unexpressed impulse dies.

Millens Wins Verdict from Jury

A verdict of no cause of action was returned in the action brought in the Supreme court by George Brophy, 14 year old lad, against Barney Millens and the city of Kingston. The responsibility of the city was eliminated by the court before the action went to the jury and the only question was whether Mr. Millens was guilty of maintaining a nuisance. Brophy was injured while sleighriding on East Pierpont street. Francis T. Murray and Cleon J. Murray represented the plaintiff; Corporation Counsel Harry H. Fleming represented the city and John W. Eckert represented Mr. Millens.

Pioneer Vets Hold Annual Reunion

Ninth Anniversary of Their Entrance Into Army Celebrated at Golden Rule Inn—Officers Elected—Interesting Talks by Several Speakers, Followed by Entertainment.

Forty-eight members and guests of Pioneer Veterans, F. 51, attended the annual reunion at Golden Rule Inn Thursday night. The occasion was the ninth anniversary of the entrance of the members into the army to participate in the World War. The yearly business meeting was held and officers were elected, after which a delicious menu was served in the handsomely decorated dining room of the Golden Rule Inn. Talks were given by Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey, Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., commander of the local post, American Legion, Attorney Thomas F. Coughlin, William J. White, who played in the organization's band during the war, and Peter J. Keresman. Eugene Cornwell also gave a short history of the "Pioneers" and presented Peter Keresman, whom he called the father of the organization, with a pair of white gold cuff links on behalf of the members for the services rendered the vets. Maiseholder's orchestra furnished music, and they were augmented in entertaining the party by Al Vogel, Benjamin Blietzhofner and Clarence Barber. A most enjoyable time was spent and the hope was expressed that the next event sponsored by the Pioneers would make its debut soon.

Officers Elected.

Upon the arrival of the party in cars to Golden Rule Inn from the local armory where they assembled, the members of the Pioneer Veterans held their business meeting and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Eugene Cornwell, president; Edward Wortman, first vice president; Joseph Wisneski, second vice president; Martin Mooney, secretary; Peter Keresman, treasurer; Benjamin Blietzhofner, historian; Henry Munch, sergeant-at-arms.

EUGENE CORNWELL.

Then from the secret chamber came the clear notes of Bill White's cornet and the guests who were in an adjoining apartment immediately recognized that taps were being sounded. The military custom was observed for the late Henry Roenn, who was an active member in the Pioneer Veterans before his death on May 3. The meeting then adjourned.

Mess Call Sounded.

Mess call was sounded from the cornet of Bill White and all proceeded to the neatly arranged banquet table in the dining hall. Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey and Andrew J. Murphy, local American Legion Post commander, were the honored guests and sat at the head of the table. The excellent menu was served in a very efficient manner by the waiters of Golden Rule Inn. The menu was as follows:

Clam Cocktail
Stuffed Olives
Midget Gherkins
Cream of Potato Rice
Paupiette of Sole Cateaux
Roast Chicken, Parisian
Sweet Potatoes, Hawaiian
Asparagus, Drawn Butter
Salad, Oriental
Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream and Cake
Coffee

Speakers Introduced.

After the last course Albert Salzman, toastmaster, spoke briefly and introduced Mayor Dempsey as the first speaker of the evening.

Mayor Dempsey said he was aware of the esteem in which the Mayor of the city held the veterans and took his place after commending the program of the vets and thanking them for the invitation to be present.

Commander Andrew J. Murphy was the next speaker and like Mayor Dempsey spoke briefly in commendation and gratitude for the privilege of being in attendance. He also expressed appreciation of the manner in which the Pioneer Veterans cooperate with the Legion although some of the veterans are not affiliated with the national organization.

Government Insurance.

Attorney Thomas F. Coughlin gave a brief but interesting talk. He called attention to the picture of Peter Keresman, "father of the organization," which was printed on the book-form menu, and said that the likeness of the ex-president of the Pioneers registered that the man was thinking hard as if planning.

Mr. Coughlin said he felt sure that the picture, which was taken while Mr. Keresman was in service, showed that he was thinking of the organization which materialized through his efforts combined with several other active veterans, and of the delightful meetings and banquets which are the outcome. He said a gathering of the kind was most admirable as it gave the once-soldiers a fine opportunity to talk over the days of yesteryear. He closed by reminding the men who wished to take advantage of the insurance under the auspices of the government that application for benefit must be made before July 2. He spoke of the insurance as a great benefit to the ex-soldiers as the premium is low and the usual rigid physical examinations given by most insurance companies is not required.

Bill White of the 51st band was called to the floor and said he was glad to be with his "buddies" again and expressed the hope that the next occasion of the kind would find him ready to attend.

Keresman Receives Gift.

Toastmaster Salzman, after introducing all of the other speakers then came to the name of the man whom all wished to hear. It was he of whom Mayor Dempsey said that his accomplishments pertaining to the Pioneers were not unlike those of the universally honored Charles Lindbergh. "Pete," as he is known not only to his comrades in F. 51 but also as a minion of the law in the city of Kingston, had but few words to say but he thanked the members for their loyal support during his reign of three years and said he felt confident that they would do all in their power to the call of the newly-elected president, Eugene Cornwell, one of the most ardent workers in the organization.

Mr. Cornwell was called upon for a speech and responded with a presentation speech at the end of which he presented ex-President Keresman with a pair of white gold

PETER KERESMAN.

cuff links upon which was engraved "P. K." Toastmaster Salzman remarked that they were not of the Wrigley variety.

History of Organization.

President Cornwell said in part: "We all know who the Father of our Country is, but I wonder how many of us know who the Father of Pioneer Veterans of F. 51 is? None other than our comrade, Peter Keresman. It was he who started the ball rolling. It was in the summer of 1923 when he thought the time was right to put his thoughts into action. It was he who thought we should have an organization such as we now have. He began to approach the members who served in Company F, 51st Pioneer Infantry, giving the one thought that we should get together and form some sort of an organization. A couple of meetings were held in the fall and at a meeting held in November, 1923, this association was formed and started on the road to either success or to die a natural death the way some organizations do. But it did not die. Why? Because we had someone at the head of it who kept things moving and saw to it that the members did not have the opportunity to lose interest in it. Our annual and semi-annual meetings are big successes as well as the other two meetings which we hold during the year. Our organization is not a large one as there are not many in this community to draw from. Our membership stays around thirty odd members.

"If we had formed this association shortly after our discharge from the army, I have no doubt but that it would not be in existence today as most all of us know what our feelings towards the army were at the time we were discharged. We have forgiven him for the hard red beans he served to us, for the tough meats and the black rank coffee, which we drank whether or not it was good. He is trying to make up for all that by having such splendid feeds for us at our banquets so I don't think any of us hold any ill feelings towards him. He has been our leader since our organization, a period of over three years, through the time when it was 'do or die.' He has given of his time and effort and has made this association what it is today. Having worked with Comrade Keresman as secretary since this association was formed, it has been a pleasure to be associated with him in this work. While perhaps we did not always agree on certain things, we compromised in some way to the mutual benefit of us all. He has cooperated with me whenever called upon to do so and is a little more ready to do his bit and a little more. And now, Comrade Keresman, on behalf of the members of the Pioneer Veterans of F. 51, it gives me great pleasure to present to you at this time, this gift which in a small way will show you the high esteem which we have for you."

Sing and Dance.

Harry Maiseholder with his entertainers, John Emmet, Virgil Winchell and Bill White, played selections most familiar to the men. His efforts to afford a most enjoyable time were augmented by Al Vogel, who rendered the Charleston in big-time style; Benjamin Blietzhofner, known to his comrades as "Beamer," sang several well received solos and in his rendition of the songs sung by the gay Heinies whom the doughboys went over to chase, he proved very apt. Clarence Barber, popular Cornell Hose fire fighter, although his solo was not very appropriate to the night which was a very wet one, sang "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," and the song was so well "put across" that the party could almost behold a rainbow within the portals of the banquet hall.

Prizes Awarded.

It is the custom of the Pioneers to award prizes at the annual reunions. Henry Munch was the holder of the ticket for first prize which was an order that entitled him to a new hat to be obtained in one of Kingston's clothing stores. Gordon Van Kleeck took second prize, which was in the form of a consolation award. His gift was a small musical toy.

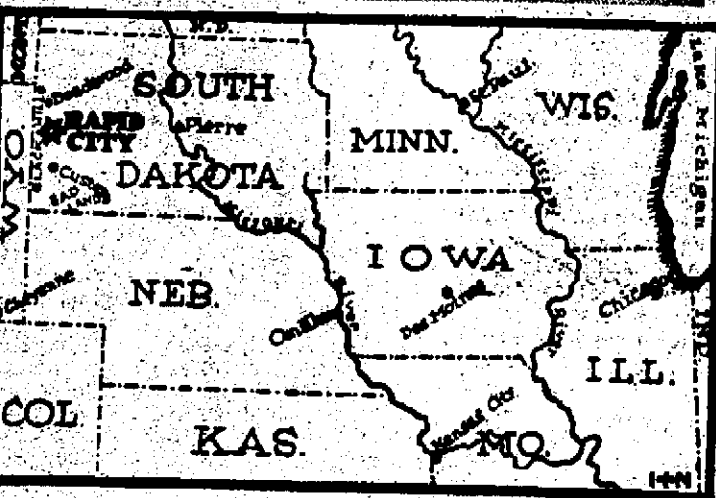

About 11:45 the Pioneer Veterans and their guests left for their homes and all agreed that a most enjoyable time has marked the fourth annual reunion of the veterans.

Good Work Brings Results

Sometimes, in life's prospecting, we discover what we believe to be a rich mine. It may not prove to be a mine of material wealth, but out of it we shall get jewels of character, the gold of experience. There is no real loss in life lived to the utmost, and good work is a philosopher's stone which transmutes even the base metals of trial and seeming failure into pure gold.—Exchange.

Red Hair and Souls Not Found Together?

I believe that if the red-haired women one knows are submitted to an impartial comparative scrutiny it will be found that there is something difficult to define, impossible not to feel, which all of them lack.

It is the harder to distinguish in that few of them are destitute of attraction; yet the ruthless analysis of close contact will, in nine cases out of ten, bring the attracted up against some ultimate blind spot, some chord that does not sound, some insensitiveness that cannot be moved.

Until one gets near, probes deep, cares much, one may not discover it; but as one does one will. There is something inaccessible, something that does not respond something, above all, that rejects responsibility.

There is a word for this thing the red-haired woman has not got, though it is one that has gone out of fashion and will probably be hailed with contempt. A soul. The red-haired woman has no soul.

There are men and women who have souls; there are men and women who have not; and we know them when we meet them. Red-headed women belong to the latter class; and there is no other form of words which will cover their peculiarities except that which declares that they have no souls—Mary Agnes Hamilton in the Atlantic Monthly.

Early Salt Production

In Colonial days in this country salt was secured by allowing sea water to evaporate in open pans. The product was not pure, but it was the best obtainable. The first salt works for producing this crude article was operated in Virginia about 1620.

IGNORANCE IS BLAMED FOR MALNUTRITION IN CHILDREN

Large Proportion of Mortality Among Children Traced to Faulty Nutrition.

Washington.—Investigations by the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor of the extent of malnutrition among children indicate that from one-fourth to one-third of the children in the United States are definitely malnourished.

Why are there so many children below par? Evidently they were not "just born that way," for the studies of malnourished children show that in the great majority of cases they started life in normal physical condition. Given this start they should have developed into healthy, robust children. That they failed to do so indicates that something is wrong with their diet and mode of living.

Improper or inadequate diet, lack of sleep, too little outdoor play, fresh air, and sunshine; overexertion due to too much work or too strenuous play, and physical defects such as bad teeth, tonsils, or adenoids are listed among the causes of malnutrition. But this gives rise to another question: Why are children improperly fed? Why do they have too little sleep? Why are bad tonsils, teeth, or adenoids not attended to? The answer seems to be that ignorance, lack of parental control and poverty, singly or together, are the causes underlying these bad conditions.

Parents come in for a heavy share of blame. Abundant evidence has been found to show that ignorance and lack of parental control are more important causes of malnutrition than poverty. Studies have shown that many children are improperly fed because parents do not know what are the proper foods for children nor how to spend their money to get the best return in food values; because they do not know that children should have regular meals, and because they do not know that drinking tea and coffee and eating indiscriminately between meals are worse for children than adults.

Then, too, there are parents who know all these things, but who just don't seem to care what and how their children eat or when they go to bed. The result of this ignorance or neglect is malnutrition, which may result in lowered vitality, increased susceptibility to disease, and retarded mental development. A large proportion of mortality among children is traced directly or indirectly to faulty nutrition.

New Money Issued for Esperantists

Amsterdam.—Have you seen a specimen? It is a new banknote issued by the "Universa Spesimla bank," a circulation bank of the Dutch Esperanto association, which has its seat in Laren, a small village in the province of North Holland.

A few weeks ago the first series of 1,000 of these notes was issued. One specimen has a value of 50 cents, 12 Dutch florins or 2.5 gold francs.

The international money was designed by Prof. Rene de Saussure, formerly of Washington, now living in Geneva. The purpose of the specimen, which is nothing more than a private tender, is to facilitate payments between Esperantists for subscriptions.

According to a statute of the Bank of Holland, no circulation bank may be established in this country and no foreign enterprise may put its bank notes into circulation except by virtue of a special law. The Bank of Holland is skeptical and does not understand the need of a new international tender when the letter of credit is so well established.

Six-Months-Old Infant

Too Young for "Work"

Milwaukee.—A judge's aversion to child labor has prevented a mother from placing her six-months-old infant in employment to put a bit of income in depleted family coffers.

Mrs. M. H. Thompson, with her baby boy, appeared before Judge Joseph E. Cordes in Juvenile court. She told of the limited income of her husband and of her own inability to obtain a position as teacher because she was married.

Holding her infant before the judge, she pleaded that he permit her to employ the baby for two hours a day in a model nursery to be conducted in a store next week.

"They will pay $10 each day for that," she explained. "With the money I will be able to buy little things for my baby."

The judge, ruminating a moment, finally denied her request.

"There would be many people coming in contact with the child, adding to the baby's chances of contracting disease," the judge ruled.

New York Truck Men

Bar Hit and Run Drivers

New York.—Following a meeting of its executive committee, Isaac Goldberg, president of the Merchant Truckmen's bureau, issued a bulletin to all members, urging that steps be taken to assist the police in cutting down the growing number of hit-and-run drivers. Goldberg recommended that all truckmen post in their garages and offices warnings to drivers against leaving the scene of an accident, and further offering a standing bonus award of $100 for the apprehension of any driver employed by a member of the organization who "hits and runs."

Explaining Poets

Nothing is so common as to find a poet, even an early poet, without a certain amount of mental abnormality.

James H. Clark, in "The Poet," says: "The poet is a man who is not a man."

Do We Appreciate Gulls?
Gulls are among the most perfect specimens of nature's wonderful handicraft. No creature could be better fitted for the rough life it has to lead. To enable these birds to withstand cold and wet, their bodies contain great quantities of oil, and as lungs would not hold sufficient oxygen for the great efforts they must make in stormy weather, all their larger bones are hollow and act as reservoirs. The gull's part of life seems to be to keep the near coast waters of the ocean clean and tidy; without them it would soon be strewn with decaying matter. To enable them to do this work thoroughly they are provided with enormous appetites. A gull will eat half its own weight in food in a single day.

Nothing to Do With Horse
Frequently a thing or ill-timed happening is described as "a mare's nest," but it is doubtful if the user of that phrase has any definite idea of its meaning. Certainly "mare" in this case has nothing to do with a horse. It is really a corruption of "Mara," a malevolent creature who, according to tradition, possessed a stone or nest filled with wonderful jewels to entice the eyes of others. This particular demon may never have existed, but it unquestionably influenced our speech, for whenever we refer to "nightmares" we are again unconsciously paying tribute to him.

Sugar Trees
The bureau of plant industry says that there is no sugar tree in this country. There is a sugar palm which grows in tropical countries. All sugarcane trees are not from one species but from several species which have been produced in various quantities. The sugar maple (Acer saccharum) and the black maple (Acer nigrum) are the two species which are used for this purpose. As a tree for the production of sugar and sugar in commerce, the sugar maple is the only one used in the eastern and northern United States and the neighboring western parts of Canada.

As She Is Today
A queen's beauty case was found by archaeologists at the tomb of Cleopatra, but it is said to be a modern forgery. It was found in the tomb of a queen—Cleopatra's tomb.

Old Word for "Council"
Hocings is an Anglo-Saxon word, meaning "council." In Great Britain the Hocings were the temporary platform on which the nomination of parliamentary candidates was made prior to the ballot of 1832, and from which they addressed the electors.

Like Circus Day.

WANTED—Boy for filling station work. H. Oaks, 619 Broadway, Texaco Service Station.

"It was like a crowd of boys at a circus for about 40 of them called for the job. They came so fast that I didn't have time to eat my supper," says H. Oaks. Today is circus day. Next to a circus there is nothing that can gather a crowd of boys like a Freeman ad can.

Fierce Mosquitoes

There are no mosquitoes and very few flies in England. In 1710 a London paper commented upon mosquitoes in the New world as follows: "The New York people are greatly troubled with a little insect which follows the hay that is made in the salt meadows, or comes home with the cows in the evening. This little animal can disfigure most terribly a person's face in a single night. The skin is sometimes so covered over with small blisters from their stings, that people are ashamed to appear in public."

Man Who Succeeds

The successful man is the one who has tried not cried, worked not dodged, shouldered responsibility not evaded it, who has gotten under the burden, not stood off-looking on and giving gratuitous advice. Grit.

Wedding Presents
More Precious
and Endearing
with each passing year.

Let's skip a handful of years, and ask the young matron to list her wedding gifts. First to mind comes the tokens thoughtfully selected at the jewelry store. So frequently used. So proudly displayed. No one could possibly overlook them. Other and perhaps more costly gifts are forgotten or dimly remembered, but jeweled possessions, enriched with constant association become more precious with each passing year.
